

The attorneys in Jackson Kelly's Commercial Restructuring practice group have extensive experience and regularly represent clients who wish to restructure debt and avoid bankruptcy. When a company is in financial distress, deciding between an out-of-court workout and bankruptcy is a critical and fact-specific inquiry and one that benefits from experienced counsel. The Firm's Commercial Restructuring practice group attorneys have decades of experience in advising and representing clients in:

- Pre-bankruptcy consultation for creditors & debtors
- Pre-bankruptcy financial workouts for creditors & debtors
- Structuring of transactions to avoid bankruptcy pitfalls

Attorneys in this practice group have been consistently recognized at the state and national level for their legal and ethical excellence in publications such as The Best Lawyers in America®.