Anna Williams is an Associate in the Litigation Practice group, focusing primarily on general litigation. She practices out of the Firm's office in Morgantown, West Virginia.

Anna is the definition of a "go-getter." She finished third in her class at the West Virginia University College of Law, was the Executive Notes Editor for the West Virginia Law Review, a Member of the WVU Law United States Supreme Court Clinic, and argued a case before the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals while in Law School.

She tackles projects when they come across her desk like researching complex and commercial litigation, drafting and revising court documents, and legal claims.

It's not just the law that Anna embraces, she enjoys playing racquetball, traveling, and going on walks with her aussiedoodle, Banjo.
